

Community Code of Conduct

International House Davis (I-House) is a social gathering space where people from all over the world come together. It is a place dedicated to embracing differences, cultivating joy, and celebrating our common humanity. At I-House, we believe culture, community, and fellowship are the lifeblood of a healthy and vibrant city, region, and society. We envision a vibrant community in which all people belong. We establish this code of conduct to create an accepting, productive, and welcoming space for all.

I-House expects that you:

- Treat everyone with respect, dignity, kindness, and consideration.
- Communicate in a spirit of collaborative inquiry and learning.
- Welcome and listen to diverse views and opinions and understand cultural differences.
- Approach other people's experiences, impressions, and understanding with openness, even if their experience does not match your own.
- Recognize the right of individuals to think, speak, express, and debate any idea freely within the bounds of courtesy, sensitivity, and respect.
- Reflect on your own ideas and stereotypes, and avoid using language based on racism, prejudice, discrimination, or stereotypes.
- Behave in a safe and responsible manner.
- Treat the premises with care, leaving the venue clean and orderly.
- Understand that engaging with difficult issues may be uncomfortable and recognize the difference between uncomfortable and unsafe.

At I-House or I-House functions you may not:

- Harass or intimidate others, nor discriminate against them.
- Physically or verbally abuse others.
- Display inappropriate anger or disruptive behavior.
- Disrupt presentations, classes, or any other events.
- Damage any property.

Kindly note:

- I-House reserves the right to determine what constitutes unacceptable behavior.
- I-House staff (or a designee) may take any appropriate action deemed necessary to stop unacceptable behavior, including removing individual(s) from the property.
- I-House reserves the right to prohibit future attendance of anyone who has violated our Code of Conduct.

I-House staff, Board, and volunteers are expected to:

- Establish an inclusive environment and provide opportunities for all people to participate in activities and programs.
- Ensure that policies, procedures, programs, and professional interactions reflect I-House's commitment to dignity and belonging.
- Reject all manifestations of discrimination based on differences among people that cause misunderstanding, dissension, or hatred.
- Reflect on your own ideas and avoid using language based in racism, prejudice, discrimination, or stereotypes.
- Communicate honestly and swiftly with I-House leadership about any incidents that violate this code of conduct.
- Commit to continued learning and growth to foster dignity and belonging for all.
- Learn, follow, and enforce this code of conduct and any other I-House rules.
